deal with large interests up n business principles. Never have I had recourse to improper juffuences to accomplish For months past you have known the fact that I was in negotiation for the purchase of one of the principal railroads of the State. Some of your newspapers and public men have called me bard names, but a much larger number have spoken of me in the most kind manner. It is always pleasant to a man of my temperament to hear himself well spoken of. On the other hand, it is very unpleasant to be abused without cause. But this is passed, and has left in my mind no ill feeling or desire for revenge. As my plans unfold themseives, not in mere rhetoric, but in actual demonstrations of what I came here to do, I think no one who opposed the sale will have occasion to regret the day that the Legislature approved the act to place the control of this road in my hands. (Applause.) It would not, gentlemen, be proper for me, a comparative stranger to many of you, to discuss the propositions to amend this measure. It seems, however, that I should tell you that at no period in the past three years—during which I have had my eye fixed firmly upon this road-has it ever entered my mind not to finish the Ducktown Division [tremendous applause]. Three years ago I discussed with several eminent North Carolinians the question of the completion of the Western North Carolina Railroad. I urged the matter with exprestness, and, at the same time, advised paying the debts of the North Carolina and Atlantic and North Carolina Railroads. Then to consolidate the three roads under one manage ment, thus carrying out in a practical way the old idea of a "North Carolina System" of railroads from the Seaboard the Mississ ppi Valley. I proposed this, not as an invidual enterprise, but in behalf of the State. It may surprise many of you to hear this, but among the archives of the State may be found one or more propositions looking to the accomplishment of that great work, which I submitted for the consideration of the Executive. Unfortunately, the condition of the finances of the State and the uncertainty which then pervaded the public mind regarding national affairs, prevented any action But for these causes I believe the Western North Carolina Railroad would now be completed. Here, I wish to say that I have always regarded the Ducktown division as decidedly the most valuable portion of this road. I am conscious of the magnitude of the work to be done to carry that road to the Tennessee State line. It involves the expenditure of millions of dollars and years of patient, persevering work. When, however, that road shall be finished it will preve one of the most

the Legislature was convened in extra-

The bill has passed into a law for the sale of that property. There have been a great many strong friends and opponents of this bill. It has passed into a law by an overwhelming majority. I trust and believe the future will show

I realize, gentlemen, that I have taken in hand a work of such magnitude as would appal most men. For twenty-five years it has taxed the energies of North Carolina. It has commanded the best thoughts and energies of such eminent statesmen as Caldwell, More-head and Graham. If, after the failure of these great men, it should fall to my lot to finish this great highway of sommerce. I have the abiding faith that the sentiment of the Old North State will accord to me all the honor to which my labors will entitle me, even though I come to you a carpet-bag Irishman. As to the methods I shall pursue in carry-

Less than twenty pears ago I came to New York, a poor Irish youth, without triends. In that city of great men, I worked, I am proud to say, as a porter at one dollar per day; but in that city, and within a stone throw of the scene of my early struggles, I have since been able to command hundreds of dol-lars for only a few hours labor. What-ever of reputation I possess whatever money I have made, has been pur hased by sacrifices of personal comfort and a laborious attention to business that would appel you. What I have done I believe I can do again; and all I ever hope to be I shall owe to my own head and hands, under Almighty God. The building of the Western North Carolina Railroad is the most stopendous undertaking of my life. Relatively I have accomplished as great things as that upon which I have now embarked That I shall successfully perform the present task, I do not doubt: and in building this railroad I feel sure of poses intended to be accomplished, deserve to rank higher than that which is known as the "North Carolina Sys-tem." It owned its birth to the genius of one illustrious man; and was alike bold, comprehensive and practical. It originated in a thorough knowledge o the physical geography of the State; in an enlightened appreciation of our necessities; and in a rue perception of the means of meeting those necessities. The State of North Carolina has an average breadth of one hundred miles. and stretches westward from the sea about seven hundred miles. It had been found by previous survey and sounding that she possessed a harbour which vessels of three hundred tons burthen could easily enter. This har-bour fronting the sea, was exempt from those maiarious fevers, with which cities and towns on other harbours on our Southern Atlantic Coast are so much scou ged. The interior of the State presented a country framed-I may say within the sober bounds of reason—by nature in one of her kindliest moods. In respect to its climate, its soils, its mineral wealth, its productions, the people here had little reason to envy those of any country on earth. But exhuberant productions have no value beyond man's immediate wants, unless they can be exchanged for those of other countries. Exchange cannot go on without commerce, and the natural avenues of commerce, navigable rivers-nature had denied us. Fine rivers flowed through our borders, but so broken by rapids, as to be incapable of havigation for any considerable distance. Out of this condition of things sprung the conception in the mind of Dr. Caldwell of a great Central Rail-way spanning the State from Beautort harbour to the Western limits of the State. Such a road would be accessible to every citizen of the State at an average distance of tifty miles, and in process of time might form a base line from other roads might radiate to every quarter of the State. Apart from it material advantages, it was frought with political and social advantages; in that it would unite our people in the tonds of a common interest them together by the ties of constant and immediate intercourse. Such was the grand scheme set forth by Dr. Caldwell in a series of papers, subsequently collected together under the title of the "Numbers of Carleton." in 1848 by the united exertions of our public men a charter was obtained. Teen through the abilities and energy of Gov. Morehead the scheme was partially realized. From that day onward its complete consummation has been the hope of every loyal cuizen of the State. It has been the objective point to which all the efforts of all our public men have been directed. Whatever divisions of sentiment have existed on parties have broken up, and new parties have formed under new names;

other subjects, our people have been in accort upon this. Since that period old but however they were designated, whether Whig or Democrat, Republi can or Conservative, every convention of every party has set its seal to this great enterprise. Through the grossest and most criminal mismanagement North Carolina Road was sold. Though the State emerged from the war almost bankrupt, our people never faltered in their purpose to complete it. It was purchased by the Stale, and out of her available resources a large portion was appropriated to the prosecution of work upon it. Every one recollects the burst of exultation which issued from the press of the State when it was anounced the tunnel through the Blue Ridge was completed. In the midst of were heard. The taxation involved in the prosecution of this great work became the subject of hostile command. The sentiment in opposition to the road became more and more pronounced. At last it became manifest that if this question were precipitated into the coming canvass, with the scope which it would afford for appeals to sordid feelingsfeelings which ought never to exist or be recognized in questions regarding the development of the State, the fate of the road would in all probabilty be sealed. Very deeply did I feel for the people of the transmontane section of our State all whose hopes would thus be blighted, and who would be condemned to an isolation apparently hopeiess. A people who would be doomed to comparative poverty amidst elements of wealth, which if duly de-veloped would place them in a position of equality with the most desirable sections of our country-a people inhabiting a section blessed with fair and fertile valleys, abounding with rich ores and precious metals; with marble, mica and corundum, with useful and ornamental timbers of many varieties, and where soil rewarded industry with bountiful products. It was therefore with peculiar pleasure that I heard a proposition had been submitted which secured the completion of the road and indemnified the State for all its outlays. Here from a quarter so unexpected, as to be ranked among those events which we term providential, came the solution of all our troubles. Particularly did this seem to be so, when we learned after due authority that the proposition came from gentlemen distinguished for their high character, for financial knowledge and for their success in dealing with undertakings, from our point of view, of proportions truly gigantic. For a time it seemed to be doubtfu whether the people would be vouch-safed the privilege of pronouncing upon this proposition. I had entire confidence in the Executive, and when his proclamation was put torth it was demonstrated to the whole State that there was a man at the heim who would shrink from no respon z-bility in the pursuit of duty. Of the proclamation itself, I but express the sense of all our citizens when I say, it was instinct with the true principles of Republican government-responsibility of power to the people-and that it breathed throughout a genuine dayo-tion to the public good, And now our deliberations have been rought to an auspicious conclusion. There was when we came together great divergence of views; and in the progress of discussion there seemed reason to apprehend, that asperities of temper excited during debates might lead to permanent division among those acknowledging allegiance to the same party. That party spirit should fail to exhibit itself upon a question of such magnitude in view of the approaching elections, was what I believe nobody anticipated. But the whole assembly whether Democrat or Republican, forgot the spirit of party in the sense of the duty to the State. Those in the same ranks who had suddenly been brought into sharp opposition to each other, new remember only that the contention springing out of that opposition, was a contention for what each pelieved to be the best interest of the Whatever feeling of alienation may have existed; whatever se ise of rritation may have swayed us, was swallowed up in unmixed satisfaction, when Mr. Best, in the address to which we have all listened with so much interest and pleasure, assured us with a one and manner which put to flight the last lingering doubt, that if his life be spared this road shall be completed. In this happy issue out of all our troules there is ground for the most cordial congratulations. Nay, may we not surrender ourselves to the pleasingwould be warranted in saying the exulting-anticipation inspired by the prospect of realizing the certain, and

As soon as I heard there was a man willing to buy it and finish it, you would have thought I was at a camp meeting in a good mood when the news was first broken to me. Mr. Chairman, and Fellow Citizens of the General Assembly: I will avail myself of this call to say just two or three things that have come into my mind since coming to this meet.ng my mind since coming to this meeting this evening.

It seems to me that upon the conclusion of our abors in relation to this great project, there is much to felicitate ourselves upo, and much to congratulate the people of North tarolina upon. Important as this matter is, and involving financially millions of money to the people, and in its consequences to the people of my section the highest and most important interests for all time to come, I think it gratifying that no taint of corruption or impropriety of any kind attaches to the conduct of any one connected with the measure either friendor opponent. It is matter of congratulation that we have had the opportunity of hearing Mr. Best for himself and his associates in a calm, practical, business like of hearing Mr. Best for himself and his associates in a calm, practical, business like talk. He has spoken to us like a man of business, and I congratulate him upon the delivery of a short speech so repiete with good sense, a toming as a stranger to most of our people from a distant State I will say to him that he will find nothing on the part of o a people in the West but a disposition to all him I every way to carry out the grand work before him; a people with open arms and generous, confiding hearts, I say to him here and now that let results be what they may, we are disposed as he I say to him here and now that let results be what they may, we are disposed as he himself said to take some things on trust. And now an conclusion I will say for those people for whom I saye labored on this question for years past that we welcome him to the mountains, and in behalf of rigeon River, Tucknaeegee and Cherokee I extend to him the hand of confidence and trust. MR. CALDWELL'S REMARKS. Hon, D. F. Caldwell was called upon and responded as follows:
Fellow Citizens:—I little expected to be called upon to say anything on this occasion. I have for many years, from my early boyhood up to the present hour, labored in season and out of season to promote the welfare and pros-perity of North Carolina. I have had no other object in view. I have never sought office, however, or anything else; but have only desired to see a well constructed railway from Beaufort harbor to the Tempessee line. I have stood for it and by It—in sunshine and storm when it met with the tiercest opposi tion as well as when it had many friends. When I recently took a visit to see some relatives in Mississippi Alabama and Tennessee, I took occasion while in Chattanooga to enquire when the first train came over the Cin-cinnati Southern Railroad, as to the prospects of that railroad finding an outlet upon some of our Atlantic har-bors? I found great excitement in Nashville and also in Chattanooga that Gov. Brown and Mr. Cole had, as was thought, foreclosed the probability, even the possibility almost, of that great and noble work that has just been

if that road could ever be built rom Chattanooga through North Carolina to the Atlantic coast, it would be one of the grandest enterprises on this planet; that Chattanooga is the great distributing point for produce from the West and Northwest and valley of the Mississippi.
This did me a great deal of good, and in a few days after when I heard there was a proposition made by some gen-tiemen from New York to take hold of this matter, I lost no time in advocating, as far as I could, the proposition.

I said: "Sir, I will bet you a fine cloth suit, boots and hat included, that the work goes forward rapidly,' and I backed him out. Another gentle-man said he would put up $100 that Mr. Best would never build to Ducktown. I said: "I an your man." He said he would go $500. tee of the Whole (Converse, of Ohio, in the Chair) upon the Consular and Di plomatic Appropriation bill.

All general debate concluded at 'clock. Recurring then to the consular system, he criticised the bill as providing for consular clerks where none were necessary, and in order to show how little had to be done in certain cases by consular and diplomatic officers, and instanced the case of Minister Washburn's son, who, while acting as second secretary of legation at Paris, had found time amid his multifarious duties to engage as promoter and party owner of a circus company. The consular system needed to be revised, en-larged and encouraged, and he was willing to take the aggregate amount appropriated by the bill and expend it every dollar for the extension of that system. TROUBLE ACROSS THE WATERS. LONDON, March 27 .- Col. ons for going to Church, an Interesting Article from the Christian Observer.

In response to a request from the editors, a correspondent sends us the following summaay of the reason given by absentees, for their neglect to attend church:

1. Poverty and hard times, we can-not afford to dress decently enough to go to church. If, however, there is a sale-a political meeting-a gathering for amusement, a tournament, they are sure to be there. In the Observer of January 14th are nine "Reasons for dressing plainly on the Lord's day," which, if

They, however, do not rest all day and it would seem that going such a short distance to church, instead of tiring, would be an agreeable change, to say the least.

3. We are closely confined to business during the week—Sunday is the ness during the week—Sunday is the only day we can spare to visit our friends and neighbors—or for them to visit us; if we go to church it prevents our enjoying their company;

Therefore, the entertaining of company and securing their good will must be more important than obeying, God and securing his approval.

4. We cannot all leave the house on Sunday for fear something should happen whilst we are away. We do not like for one of the family to be alone in the house all day and some stay to in the house all day, and some stay to

What can be said to people who make such excuse? Is it not evident that they take little or no interest in observing and obeying God's commands? are either ignorant of their duty or not wileither ignorant of their duty or not willing to do it? Mr. Hutchins, of New York, rose to a question of privilege, a question which involved the dignity of the House. The New York Evening Post had published an article headed "A Cowardly Conan article headed "A Cowardly Congress," which, after referring to the action of the gentleman from Illinois (Townshend) in committing his bill to the committee on the Revision of Laws stated that Congress was working in a dishonest and indirect way in not adopting the resolution directing the committee on Ways and Means to report back several tariff bills to the House.

The special committee of the House on the inter-oceanic canal gave a hearing to-day to Wm. F. Channing, of Providence, R. I., who advocated the white railway in preference to the ship ship railway in preference to the ship canal. (He claimed that it could be constructed from half, and possibly one-third of the cost of the canal, and avowed his belief that even if the canal were constructed across the Isthmus by foreign capital a ship rail-way would eventually be built by American capital. Real Property not to be Taxed This Year. The Wilmington Star says: The following from State Treasurer Worth be of general interest throughout the State. It seems that Mr. Solicitor Moore, who is also Attorney for the Board of County Commissioners of New Hanover county, was asked his opinion in regard to the set in question, and he construed the language of the same to mean that the assessment of 1879, so far as it related to real property, should hold good until the law directed otherwise; but, to place the matter beyond question, he wrote to the Treasurer for his opinion, sanctioned by the Attorney General, which, as will be been, coincides with the views of Soficitor Moore.

GEO. C JOBBAN, Editor and Propr PARTY DISCIPLINE.

Our duty now devolves upon all Democrats in North Carolina, but in an especial degree upon the members of the General Assembly. They are the potent factors in shaping the course of party polities. If North Carolina is to give her ten electoral votes to the nomince of the Cincinnati Convention and a Democrat is to continue to occupy the office of Governor, it behooves each man to be up and doing. Let us make our organization more perfect during 1880 than ever before in the history of the State. For once let us attempt to frown upon petty discords and warning ambitions, with an earnest purpose to give the State a government and officers which will be worthy of the brightest days of her past, let us put forward for office the men who will reflect the greatest honor upon the State and the Democratic party. If the members of the General Assembly will each exert his influence to that end, it might be said to be already accompished. Without organization and party discipline we are but a mob, and will stand in imminent danger of defeat, with the party lines drawn closely and every man at his post, no power on earth or beneath it can prevent our march to certain and overwhelming victory.

MB. W. J. BEST.

On yesterday Mr. W. J. Best addressed a large audience in the hall of the House of Representatives upon matters connected with the purchase of the Western North Carolina Railroad by himself and his associates. It is not too much to say that the impression made upon all, both the friends and opponents of the sale, was singularly favorable. He is a clear, pleasant speaker, and his heart is evidently deeply interested in the work in Western North Carolina. He emphatically disclaimed any intention to take advantage of the opportunities which Mr. Merrimon and others in their arguments against the bill had pointed out Louisiana State Lottery Co to him, whereby he might swindle the State and the holders of the mortgage bonds, and might avoid his contract.

He declared his intention to build the road to Ducktown as well as to Paint Rock within the time specified in the contract. He frankly admitted that the motives which induceed him to undertake the work was a desire to make money; but at the same time he expressed the earnest hope that he might have some part in the upbuilding of internal improvements in North Carolina. We ask the careful perusal of his argument to be found upon our

Mr. Best came to the United States a poor Irish boy scarce twenty years ago, and by his unwearied industry and indomitable energy be has attained a position in New York of which any man might be justly proud. The News be lieves that the General Assembly has acted wisely in sale. We have had no reason to doubt the sincerity of the purchasers, and their ability to carry out the provisions of their contract, and thus believing we offer our congratulations to North Carolinians upon the prospect.

THE COURSE OF COTTON.

Some Aspects of the Market as viewed from Liverpool. New York Bulletin. LIVERPOOL, March 6.—The cotton market has this week shown an improvement, but it has not amounted to mach. It sprung from a short-spurt of activity in Manchester, and with the exhaustion of that has shown signs of receding to last week's dullness again. The buying in Manchester was mostly on Continental account, and, following did the peaceful passing off of the Emperor of Russia's acession festival and the pacific tenor of the speeches delivered on the German Army bill by General Von Moltke and others, showed plainly how the fears of political com-plications prevail upon the Continent, It is not to be expected that England can be altogether free from alarm under these circumstances, and, as allu-ded to last week, the stocks and other markets have shown the effects of it.
We do not apprehend, however, that unless more decided steps in a warlike direction should be taken by any of the Powers suspected, the alarm will spread, but it may continue to exist in such a degree as to instil caution and check the speculative mania which has been previously prominent. In cotton, certainly, speculation has for some time been at a very low ebb; for to the uncertainty common to other branches of trade has been added the complex nature of crop estimates. However disappointing this may be to importers and shippers, it will conduce to a more satisfactory basis of value for the next few months. The range of prices now reached in Manchester is nearly the same as ruled five years ago, and as at that time the continuous movement downward could not be said to have fairly set in, and as there was good buying and no fear of an over-supply of raw material, it seems as though we are now at a price which needs careful consideration as to whether we have not anticipated a shorter crop than is likely, and a more active foreign de-mand than is being experienced. We have no wish to write the market down, but with a weak silver market, uncertain crop—not as to its smallness, but its largeness—higher prices for manufacturek goods here than in importing markets in the East, and a present rate of consumption which bids fair, under these circumstances to again lead to heavy over stocking, we cannot but think that eaution nov may prevent disappointment, and may be disaster later on. Messrs. Smith, Edwards & Co., in their monthly circular, incline towards this view, being their belief on the foregoing considerations, coupled with the fact that cloth has not advanced in ratio of years; and as manufacturers find more and more

The Texas Republican Convention at Austin yesterday, after a somewhat acrimonious session, admitted all the delegates, and adopted resolutions demanding the free exercise of the elective franchise, favoring both gold and silver currency, but believing that the two should approximate each other in value as currency as nearly as possible, and leaving the nomination of State officers to another convention. A resolution instructing the delegates to Chicago for Grant was bitterly opposed. It was finally agreed to instruct the Austin yesterday, after a somewhat actatesville Landmark. It is an interesting fact, and one perhaps not generally known, that the Siamese twins used to have frequent fights. They were indicted for one of these, at a term of Surry court some time before they died, submitted for an affray and judgment was suspended upon payment of cost. This is a matter f record. Before the war twins were great secessionists, but afterwards, being much embittered by the loss of their slaves, they took no interest in politics and did not go to the polls, though they did come out and vote for Maj. tatesville Landmark. This railroad controversy has developed some astonishing things—nothing more wonderful than the use of the word "subterfuge" in connection with the name of Worth. The Fayetteville Banner says that Dr. Worth, the treasurer of the State, the veritable watchdog of the treasury, resorted to a "sub-terfuge" in such and such a case. If there is any man in this State who is more honest than any other from taking any short cuts or resorting to any "subterfuge," even to fill his own pockets with money or to save his own life, that man is Dr. John M. Worth. He who calls into question the probity of our bluff old Quaker treasurer, should look mighty well, before he does so, to the joints of his own armor.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the Great Blood Purifier and Liver Stimulant, is the most searching, cleansing, and purifying agent of this country. It may be detected in the saliva, weat, milk, blood, and urine in forty minutes after taking the first dose, showing that it has entered the circulation and been carried to every part of the system. It forever era licates the virus of Syphilis, Scrofula, Cancer, and Canker, those terrible blood poisons that for out the machinery of life milling the body with foul corruptions. Taken internally in conjunction with the externa, application of Cutricura, the Great Skin Cire, it speedily cures Scrofulous Ulcers and Old Sores, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Tetter. Wishing to give my whole attention to the lumber trade, in which I am about to engage on a larger scale than ever before, I offer for sale on terms to suit the times the following valuable property in Cary:

MY PLUG TOBACCO FACTORY, in a BRICK building 50,280 feet, 3 stories high, the lower story being two large storerooms. The robacco Machinery is new and has a capacity of manufacturing 1,000 lbs. per day. The factory has been worked a year, and a good beginning for a trade has been made. The building and the machinery will be sold together, or separately to suit purchasers.

GRAIN MILLS,

in a 3 story brick building, 28x49 feet. Two Wheat Mills and one Corn Mill, new and complete with a capacity for grinding 100 bushels of wheat and 100 bushels of corn a day, and can compete in quality of flour with any mills in the State. The mills have had a very large local patronage during the past year. They are driven by a 60 Horse Power Steam Engine, improved, of the make of Taibott & Sons, Richmond Attached to the engine is also a 60 Saw Corron Gin and power press, at a safe distance (about 100 feet) in a different lot. The engine has a brick smoke-stack 60 feet high, making the danger from fire the least possible and the rate of insurance very low.

Tseveral well built and handsome residences, with lots and gardens of about 1 acre to each dwelling. They are wooden buildings, 2 stories high, with from 5 to 7 rooms each, situated in desirable locations in the village.

Besides these, 4 one acre lots, with cottage buildings of 2 rooms.

TERMS: One-third Cash; balance on reasonable time.

This makes it a misdemeanor to ship quail from our Express offices. Those who are fond of this most excellent sport will see at once how they are thus benefitted.

Fine Paintings. Our attention was called yesterday to some exquisite paintings at the up town store of Pescud, Lee & Co. They represent a portion of the prominent foggers of the Raleigh Gem Club. The first picture that strikes the casual observer is the handsome face of the 'Bass Fogger" Mr. Johnsing, the picture has been noticed by many eminent critics, and pronounced to be perfect especially the graceful goatee that ex-tends nearly over the counter. We next pass on to that of Mr. Pulling, the wonderful likeness that picture presents is simply astonishing. With the little boquet on the lappel of his coat, you see the little Pullen boy not in imagination in reality. The next picture the artist displayed his utmost talent, for a more perfect picture could not have been produced than this one of the little Creech boy, the eyes, nose and general expression of the face is per-fect. The next picture you observe is the well known fogger, Mr. Murray. You cannot gaze too long on that swee picture, the expression of the face is not as good as the others, but the legs and other symmetrical portions of the body is splendid. The next and last picture is the old stager fogger Haywood, the artist forgot to put enough hair on top of the head, otherwise the

GIVES HIS VIEWS AS TO TILDENS CANDIDACY.

He Does not Desire the Nomination but Woold Accept—Governor Walkers Views Also.

A reporter of the Syracuse (N. Y Courier had an interview with Hon. Lucius Robinson, ex-Governor of N. Y., in Syracuse a few days since. In answer to the question, "Will Mr. Tilden be a candidate for President in the Cincinnati Convention?" Governor Robinson said: "I cannot answer. Some time ago Mr. Tilden informed me that he did not desire the nomination for President this year, yet from what I know of his views I should say that he would accept the nomination if it were tendered him. I think, however, he would be entirely satisfied if a Democrat could be nomi-nated at Cincinnati who would stand firm for the condemnation of the monstrous frauds which cheated the American people out of their rights and struck such a dangerous blow to their liberties. The condemnation of these frauds must be the key-note of the coming campaign and the battle-cry of Governor Robinson conversed freely oncerning the result of the election in New York State last fall. "I had no thought," said he "of accepting a re-nomination from the Democracy until ohn Kelly proclaimed that I must not be renominated. I had worked hard for three years and I wanted rest. I had administered the government of the State upon the sound fundamental principles which are the foundation of republican government and are the platform of the Democratic party. 1 was content to retire to private life, and when some of my friends hinted at the proposition to place me in nomination again I told them no. I did not desire another term; but when that foolish fellow in New York said that I should not be renominated, that altered mat-ters, and I resolved to accept the re-nomination if it were tendered me. I knew that the party was doomed to defeat before I was nominated. I knew that it was doomed to defeat when I was nominated, but I knew that it would go down with colors flying, not yielding one jot of principle. I see that John Kelly now says that the Democrats must not nominate Mr. Tilden at Cincinnati. They may nom-inate any body else but Mr. Tilden, but they must not nominate him. That de-claration will, in my opinion, go far to-wards nominating Mr. Tilden. John Kelly was the cause of his nomination for Governor last full. Until he said I should not be nominated I had firmly made up my mind I should not be Referring to Governor Seymour, Governor Robinson declared that he believ ed him to be sincere in his determina tion not to be a candidate for the Pres idential nomination. He also expressed the belief that Governor Seymour would not accept the nomination were it ten-dered to him. "I know that he cannot endure excitement," said Governor Robinson, "and I believe that the excitement and labor of a political cam-paign would completely break him

A representative of the Courier also had an interview with Hon. Gilbert C. Walker, ex-member of Congress and ex-Governor of Virginia, who is now practicing law in Binghamton and whose appeal for harmony in the Demcratic State Convention will be well remembered. "Who is your preference or the Democratic candidate for President? 'was asked. "I prefer Horatio Seymour for the Democratic candidate for President above all other men in the Democratic party," he replied. "Polies seem to be muddled in Virginia between the Debt-payers and Readjusters. Do you think that this will endanger the success of the Dem-eracy in the State.

I do not. I know the people of Virgina better than they know themselves, and truer people never lived. Whatever may be the local difference upon the debt question of the people of Virginia when it comes to a great National con-test in which are involved the life or death of the great principle proclaimed and taught by eminent men of the past, her people will rally with earnestness and enthusiasm to the support of the Democracy. If the Cincinnatti Convention acts as wiselv as I think it wil Virginia's electoral vote for its nominee maybe counted upon for a certainty; and what is true of every other Southern State of Virginia is true of every other Sothern State. In other words, our success or defeat will depend upon the ac-tion of the National Democratic Con-

GOVERNOR SET MOURSPEAKS OUT ... THE PIVOTAL STATE.

The Republican Party is Demoralized-Action of the Democratic l'arty in Doubt.

The Syracuse (X.Y.) (burier publishes authentic and authorized interviews had by its reporters with Horatio Seymour, ex-Governor Lucius Robinon and ex-Governor Gilbert C. W lker of Virginia, in relation to the political situation in general, and in particular to the present condition and prospects of the Democratic party in the State of New York. Mr. Seymour is a close observer, and, standing aloof from the turmoil and strife of politics, his views are particularly interesting and imporare particularly interesting and impor-tant. In answer to the question, "What do you think of the condition of the Republican party?" ex-Governor Sey-mour said:

"The Republican party, both in this State and in the Union, is demoralized, and its quarrels are among young and active men.'

"Do you think Grant will be nominated at Chicago?"

There was a bit

Now that both are known, there is a bitter consest over him, and, in my pinion, he cannot succeed in securing the nomination. The cause of this state of affairs iles in the fact that the Repub lican party is made up of discordant elements, men who are wild theorists. They range in religion from Bishop Simpson down to Robert Ingersoli, and in business matters from the free com mercial idea of the business men of New York to the rigid high tariff ideas of Keiley, of Pennsylvania. In their political views of government they range of opinions of Mr. Blaine, who wants to make this what he calls a sovereign nation, where the minority of the people living in States with small lations can govern the majority by the power and patronage of the Senate, while another class of Republicans, represented by journals like the New York Econing Post, wishes to keep our general government within its doe limits. To satisfy such a par y, made up of such discordant elements, it is no section of the country can take of "I do not think that any of the candidates to the Presidential nomination now prominent will we selected by the Republicans at Chicago. They are all party. I know them all personally, and I have more kindly feelings towards them than large sections of their own party have, and I feel more respect for their characters than many of their political party express with regard to their morals, their fitness and their popularity."

"Governor Seymour, have you an idea who will be nominated for President by the Democrats?" "No one can yet forecast the action of the Democratic party, nor have those spoken of in connection with the nomination for the Presidency clearly made up their minds that they wish to be put upon the ticket. I know but little about the current of political events, as views are of little or no gain, but it looks to me as if the action of the Democratic National Convention must in a great degree be shaped by the course of events, and particularly by the action of the Republican Convention, which will be haid first. So far as the men are concerned who are spoken of in connection with the nomination for President by the Democrats, I feel kindly towards hem all, and can give them all I have to give-my own vote, for the day has gone by whom I can take an active what do you think of the condition of the Democratic party in the State?' party in New York State, while there are unfortunate differences they are drifting into the past and are getting behind the party in its course in the future. On the other hand, the quarrels among the Republicans are breaking at along the pathways before them. Those who have been prominent in shaping the policy of the Democratic party are getting old and infirm and are dying out, and as I am the oldest I expect to lead off. The quarrels among the Democrats are over old men and it is the height of folly to continue them. The old men will all pass away in two or three years at the most, and then the young and vigorous men who are left will find themselves embittered towards each other on account of men who are dead and gone and who were not worth fighting over. I spent the early and best part of my life in espousing the cause of old men, and many wer the bitter quarrels I had in their behalf. The wounds received rankle to this day and the animosities engendered, many of them, have never been forgotten or allayed. I fought bitter fights over Clay, Cass, Van Buren and others, and before I knew it they were all dead. It is foolish for young men to waste their time in quarreling over or espousing the cause of old men. The Republican combatants are active men. in the vigor of life, and will continue to lead or mislead their friends for many years to come." The News from Maine.

Charles S. Prentice, of Toledo, O., went to Paris and thence to England to be treated for Bright's disease, and after the best physicians of both countries had done what they could for him gave up in despair and returned to America to die. Here he received further treat-ment from other skillful physicians without benefit, and while "listlessly lingering in pain and anguish," he says, heard of the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, took it, and was completely cured in a few weeks. He gives cir cumstantial details of his painful expe-
